Celebrating Nebraska Statehood Sesquicentennial.

1867 — 2017

Lead photos are of landmark Chimney Rock, and State Capitol building designed by Bertram Goodhue.

(Of course they are not really that close together.)

1. World's largest displayed mammoth is in Lincoln.
2. The Mormon Trail, California Trail, Oregon Trail, and Pony Express Route passed near Scotts Bluff.
3. "Nebraska" was derived from Sioux Indian name for "flat water". The Platte River was named by French trappers and means "flat water". Much of the Ogallala Aquifer is replenished from Platte River drainage.
4. In 1962, a Nebraska Cornhusker game was a sell-out. Every home game since then has been sold out, an NCAA record. On game day the colosseum becomes the third largest "city" in the state.
5. The Archway spans Interstate 80 near Kearney. Walk over the Interstate as you view exhibits of westward migration. A great stop on a cross-country trip.
